

A Better Way to Manage Your Learning & Talent Technology

Learning and talent technology continues to evolve but our experience in managing this technology has not. There has to be a better way than one administrator to one LMS.

The Bluewater Managed LMS™ service blends resourcing, best practices of learning technologies, optimization, innovation, and deep industry expertise to help our customers manage and operate their modern learning technology solutions. Why not modernize your LMS management and hire a team of experts at a price point lower than the cost of a single administrator?

Focus on Your Core Services & Ensure Your Staff is Prepared to Serve Your Customers

Bluewater Managed LMS™ is designed to help you secure the greatest value from your investment in learning and talent management technology within your organization.

Are you ready to outsource your LMS? Hear from our customers.

"I'm an ITVP struggling to manage a complete learning and talent technology tech stack. Employee attrition rates are accelerating, and experienced talent is not available."

"Our LMS Administrator resigned unexpectedly and the replacement we hired only lasted a few months. Our current administrator is an IT Analyst who has an additional job. Our management of the LMS is minimal and many projects are getting left undone."

"I'm an IT Manager who has responsibility for operating our LMS, ATS and Performance Management System. Response times to business requests are increasing. We need a more cost-effective model for managing all of our learning and technology."

Cost-Effective Pricing Strategy

How can this be less expensive than using internal resources or hiring an LMS Administrator?

The majority of Bluewater Managed LMS™ agreements cost 20-25% less than hiring an outside dedicated LMS Administrator. Spreading responsibilities in-house often results in task management and problem solving issues burdening your team while neglecting performance optimization. Low user results, frustrations, and lack of innovative solutions cost money.

How It Works

The Bluewater Managed LMS™ service blends resourcing, optimization and innovation with best practices and deep industry expertise to help customers manage and operate their modern learning technology.

Your experience with Bluewater will be guided by your assigned Bluewater Managed LMS™ Account and Operations Manager whose responsibilities include the following:

All of this is wrapped in our Bluewater Center of Excellence™ methodology.

The Bluewater Way

Bluewater transforms our employees' lives by serving you and engaging yours. We develop relationships, not transactions; focus on impact, not tools; and have flexible, not one-size-fits-all, solutions.

We create clients for life by helping them change the way they leverage learning and talent technology. That all starts with our people. If you use technology to Recruit, Engage or Develop your people, then Bluewater has incredible client stories to share with you.
